

HOW ROSIE MISLAID HER RAGGLES

Rosie was in the Playhouse filling a bowl with strawberries when Raggles rushed in and made her jump.

He wanted to play 'Hide and Eat'.

Rosie wasn't sure what that was so Raggles explained.

"I'll hide with the strawberries and you have to find me before I eat them all," he said.

Rosie was filling a bowl with strawberries. Raggles wanted to play Hide and Eat.

While Raggles went to hide, Rosie counted all the objects in the kitchen.

"One banana... two apples..." began Rosie, "three cups... four shoes."

Rosie was interrupted by Will arriving on his Go Speeder.

Will was trying to break his speed record. He invited Rosie to come and help him.

Rosie counted while Raggles went outside to hide.

At the Playground Raggles tried to hide behind the see-saw, but it wasn't big enough.

He decided to try the Orchard instead.

Meanwhile on Oakley's Hill, Rosie raced in the Go Speeder while Will timed her with his stopwatch.

Will timed Rosie as she raced in his Go Speeder

Raggles couldn't find any good trees to hide behind in the Orchard.

They were all too narrow.

He decided to try somewhere else.

The trees in the Orchard were too narrow for Raggles to hide behind.

Big Bear was eating a sticky toffee apple as he watched Rosie and Will race.

Rosie and Will raced down the hill as fast as they could.

Big Bear was so busy cheering he didn't notice his toffee apple fall off the stick.

"You did it!" announced Oakley excitedly. Rosie and Will had beaten the speed record.

Rosie and Will beat the speed record and Big Bear lost his toffee apple.

Big Bear was upset when he realised he had lost his toffee apple. "Doh, where did it go?" he said, hopping around on one leg.

Rosie told him not to worry and offered to help him find it.

Rosie helped Big Bear look for his toffee apple.

Meanwhile Bluebird found Raggles hiding in the picnic area.

The bowl was now only half full of strawberries!

Raggles decided he needed to find a better place to hide and set off for the maze.

Raggles decided to try and hide in the maze.

Rosie and Big Bear walked round and round looking for the toffee apple.

"I think I've got to the BOTTOM of your sticky apple problem!" giggled Rosie, as she spotted the apple stuck to Big Bear's behind.

Big Bear offered to give Rosie a piggy back around the garden to say thank you.

Rosie spotted the toffee apple stuck to Big Bear's bottom.

Raggles decided the maze was a good hiding place.

"It'll take Rosie ages to find me in here," he declared.

The maze was a good place for Raggles to hide.

Rosie was enjoying her piggy back ride with Big Bear when he stumbled and fell into a big pile of leaves.

Holly wanted to make a collage with the leaves.

Rosie offered to help Holly with her picture.

Holly wanted to make a collage with leaves.

Back at the maze, Raggles made himself comfortable.

He made friends with Ed the Earthworm and gave him a strawberry.

Raggles made friends with Ed the Earthworm.

At the Playhouse, Rosie realised she had forgotten all about Raggles.

"Oh no!" she cried, "He must still be hiding."

Rosie raced off to find Raggles.

Rosie had forgotten all about Raggles and raced off to find him.

Raggles sang a song to Ed to pass the time.

*Ed the Earthworm you're the very best...
Even though they might think you're a pest...
You've become to me a friend...
And will stay here till the end...*

They shared the rest of the strawberries but Raggles made sure he saved one for Rosie.

Raggles started to feel sleepy...YAWN

Raggles sang a song to Ed. He saved his last strawberry for Rosie.

Rosie followed a trail of strawberry leaves all the way to the centre of the maze where she found Raggles fast asleep.

"I'm so sorry for forgetting about you, Raggles," said Rosie softly. She decided to give him the best game of 'Hide and Eat' ever.

When Raggles woke, Bluebird explained that it was his turn to find Rosie.

At the picnic area, Rosie gave Raggles his prize - a BIG BOWL OF STRAWBERRIES. "Thanks Rosie, but I think I've had enough strawberries for one day!" laughed Raggles.

It was Raggles' turn to find Rosie and he won a BIG BOWL OF STRAWBERRIES!
